Lord Tennyson is reported to be collecting his detached poems into one volume. All his admirers pray that he will not include the late detached navy poem "dioey in the volume.

The royal mail steamer Britannia, recently purchased by the British government, is being fitted with eight guns and four field pieces, at Valparaiso. When finished she will leave for Coquimbo.

The secretary of the treasury has decided that the head money tax of 50 cents levied upon immigrants, under the statute of 1882, applies to passengers coming into our ports, not as immigrants, but transiently as tourists.

Edmund G. Ross, the new governor of New Mexico, was for some years editor of the Leavenworth Standard, and since 1882 has resided in Albuquerque, N. M. Mr. Ross is very popular with the newspaper men of Kansas.

During the past week western packers have handled 200,000 hogs, an increase over the preceding week. Since March, 1,174,500 have been packed at Milwaukee, 59,700 at Cedar Rapids and 13,670 at Sioux City.

The Democrats cannot accept Mr. Randall as their leader in tariff matters without abandoning their claim to being revenue reformers. They have till next December to think the matter over, but the people will expect them to be prepared to do something when congress meets.

The mikado of Japan has conferred the order of the "Rising Sun" of the fourth and fifth class upon five American citizens, viz.: Rev. Dr. P. V. Veeder, Mr. Winfield S. Chaplin, Dr. D. B. The total loss caused by the Somerset, Que., fire is estimated at $300,000. One hundred and forty buildings were destroyed in three hours and most of them were uninsured. The destitution amongst the burned out people is said to be appalling. The church, which was one of the finest in the diocese, was insured for $20,000.

A deal of complaint is heard these dull days, says the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, at the continued high rates of the telephone company. Its charges for the use of instruments are $60 a year in residences and $80 in business establishments, rates alleged to be one-half too high. The company is said to have a revenue here of seven or eight hundreds dollars a month, with expenses of only about $250.

One consoling feature of the present business depression is the fact that it is at least as marked in speculation as in any legitimate branch of industry. All Wall street efforts to start a buying movement on the part of the public are signal failures, and after each brief artificial spurt of activity the market relapses into dullness and despondency. If the country is not making much money it is certainly throwing away less than usual in stocks and grain.

Lieut. Howard, who has been winning laurels with his Gatling gun, is a lucky fellow. He made between $8000 and $10,000 by a speculation in cartridges not long before he came to Canada, and another investment which he made on the eve of his departure from the United States has also panned out handsomely. He will find himself riches on his return by a very pretty sum than he was when he went away.

The institution of agricultural learning established by Messrs. Moody and Sankey at Mount Hermon, Franklin county, Mass., occupies several hundred acres of excellent land, and is now in successful operation. It has already cost $250,000, and much more is needed to complete it on the plan contemplated by its founders. A new building was dedicated last week, the cost of which, $20,000 was defrayed entirely by the royalty on Mr. Sankey's Gospel hymns.

Several other banks in various parts of New England it is understood, hold Mr. Hale's paper to greater or less extent. It is reported that Senator Blair and Frank W. Jones, of New Hampshire, are among the chief endorsers of ex-Governor Hale's paper. The attachments placed on ex-Governor Hale's property amounts to $277,000. It is rumored that Hale's investments for two or three years past have been very unsuccessful, and that he has lost heavily in railroad enterprises.

S. notes, deposited for redemption, amounts to $25,000. It was reported that Redemption Clerk J. F. Aufdemorte, who is suspected of defalcation, has disappeared, and efforts to arrest him have proved unsuccessful. In speaking of defalcation to-day the U. S. Treasurer said he proposed to make a full and complete examination of the affairs of the subtreasury, and to that end he has sent two clerks to New Orleans to assist Messrs. Definitely Settled.

Special to THE TIMES.

LONDON, June 6.—The Pall Mall Gazette says it is glad to be able to state upon the highest authority that the long standing question of difference between England and Russia concerning the north west Afghan frontier has been finally and satisfactorily settled. A definite arrangement has been arrived at on the question of principle. Commissioners on the boundary will forthwith commence to mark precisely the delimitation of the boundary. They are now on the spot. The Gazette believes that the above might have been announced last week but for differences of opinion as to the more precise definition of the frontier east of Zulfigar. The Penjdeh incident will be referred to the King of Denmark, who has informally agreed to accept the office of arbitrator. The arbitration will be rigidly confined to the interpretation of the sacred convention of March 16th.

Trouble in the Cabinet.

LONDON, June 5.—The cabinet to-day discussed the Irish coercion bill for two hours, but failed to reach an agreement. Earl Spencer, in an interview with Gladstone yesterday, stated that an irresistible minimum of coercion was indispensible for governing Ireland. He showed by his absence from the council to-day that he was determined that there should be no compromise. A majority of the Cabinet support Earl Spencer. Gladstone anxious that there should be no disruption in the face of a general election, asked Chamberlain and Sir Charles Dilke to accede to Earl Spencer's full demands for one year. The council was adjourned until Tuesday. The excitement in Ministerial circles over the crisis is intense. It is said that Sir Charles Dilke and Chamberlain intend to resign.

The Ameer Murdered.

Victor Hugo's Daughter.

HALIFAX, N. S. May 27. Details of the romantic career of Adele, the daughter of Victor Hugo, are published, the facts being furnished by Robert Matton, Q. C., a well-known criminal lawyer, who acted for her professionally on several occasions. Adele's story, as told by herself, is as follows: When a mere girl, living with her parents in Brussels, she became acquainted with a young man, one Pinsen, belonging to a wealthy family, then staying in Brussels. They became engaged and secretly married. She believed owing to the opposition of Pinsen's family, the affair was kept private and he promised to make her his wife publicly in due time. Meanwhile, he was gazetted lieutenant in the British army and ordered to Halifax. Just previous to this he wrote her to meet him in London where they would be formally married, but before she reached there Pinsen had started with his regiment for Halifax. She returned to Brussels and shortly afterward clandestinely left her home, resolved to follow Pinsen. Arriving in New York, she made her way to Halifax, and lived there nearly three years. Pinsen proved recreant, repudiating all knowledge of her, and becoming engaged to the daughter of J. W. Johnston, then premier of Nova Scotia, which engagement was broken off. Pinsen went with his regiment to Barbadoes, and has not since been heard from. Adele, while in Halifax, followed him day and night, at times in male attire. The girl was placed in a New York or Boston insane asylum."

THINKS IT FIGHT.

In relation to this romantic story, the Courrier des Etas Unis says: "This romantic story bears intrinsic evidence of improbability. It seems to be as much a product of the imagination as the most fanciful of Hugo's romances. If it is true, it is strange that there is no allusion to the existence of the girl in any of Victor Hugo's biographies. No allusion is made to it in his memoirs, written by his wife and dictated or reviewed by himself. The ubiquitous and gossipy reporters of the Paris press have never discovered it, and the chatterboxes of the boulevards, cafes and salons never have mentioned it. Again, what could be more improbable than that Hugo should permit his daughter to venture across the Atlantic and pursue her lover from Canada to Barbadoes? If Miss Hugo succeeding in leaving home clandestinely and reached Halifax, is it likely that a fond father like Victor Hugo would leave his only daughter helpless and alone in a far-off Canadian garrison town? Finally, as to the legacy of 4,000,000 francs, if she is living and insane, why should Hugo leave the enormous sum of $800,000 to an incurable maniac? If he did so he would be more insane than she.

The Princess of Wales as a Diplomatist.

Special to THE TIMES.

PARIS, June 6.—The Gaulois states that the Princess of Wales is endeavoring to bring about a meeting of the Prince of Wales and the Czar of Russia at Copenhagen. It is the hope of the Princess that permanent peace may thus be secured through the meeting.

Acting in Self Defence.

Special to THE TIMES.

HACKENSACK, N. J., June 5.—Sanford Cisco, on the scaffold this morning confessed having killed Abraham Gurney, but insisted to the last that he acted in self defence.

On the War Path.

Special to THE TIMES.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—General Crook telegraps General Sheridan that Indians passed Duncan station on the night of the fourth inst., going south, well mounted and traveling very fast, and states that it looks now as if the only chance is that the troops at Guadalupe Canon may intercept them. Captain Crawford with ninety scouts will pursue them. A dispatch from Bradly, of the fifth instant, states that the hostiles have left Magellan mountains and are moving south.

VICTORIA ANOMALIES.

As Described in the Manchester Examiner by a Correspondent.

There are all sorts of queer anomalies in the daily life of Victoria. For instance until within a few months, there was only a mail from the east, by Portland and Puget Sound, three days a week; and also from the British Columbia mainland there was a mail only three times a week; but the warehouses, shops, and most of the private houses, all of which are within walking distance of one another, are connected by telephone. Ladies "ring up" their friends on the slightest pretext, and exchange civilities and arrange their plans for the day; and purchases can be made, and carriages ordered, without crossing the doorstep. As yet the houses are neither numbered nor named, and therefore the post office excuses itself for not arranging for a delivery of letters; but on the front doors, instead of the old fashioned knockers, electric bells are fastened. These bells are often unanswered from within, and when that is the case the visitor understands either that the house is locked up or that the Chinaman is out of hearing, and slips his or her card under the door. Many ladies, however, have days on which they are "at home;" for making calls is the usual afternoon occupation. Many of the houses are supplied with gas, although lamps are more frequently used; but the town, which is drained most primitively by means of open gutters, is lighted at night by electric light. These lights are fixed at the top of three high poles, placed in different quarters of the town. But though these poles are sufficiently high for a stranger, who does not expect to find Vancouver Island illuminated in so modern a way, to mistake the lights on top for new planets or constellations, they are not high enough above the town for both sides of the streets to be successfully lighted. One side is always in deep shadow.

GAME NEAR VICTORIA.

An Ingenuous Englishman Looking for a Soft Billet.

In the autumn great quantities of game are brought into Victoria by the Indians, principally grouse, snipe and wild ducks and geese. Later on it is almost a sickening sight to see the number of deer, and even of young fawns, that are hung in rows outside the butchers' shops. Venison was never more than 10c per pound last year. Bear steak is a greater delicacy; but in taste it is not much different from a good beefsteak. It is one of the illusions which Englishmen cherish when going out to colonies where they are told the rivers swarm with fish and the land with game, that they will be able to supply their households with food at no cost whatever. They forget that where fish and birds are so plentiful they will be proportionately cheap, and that a man's time must be worth little if he cannot find a more profitable occupation than killing them. Business habits and business knowledge are a better equipment even for life in a remote and newly developed country than the most intimate acquaintance with gun and fishing tackle. Last autumn the contractors for one of the sections of the new railway, which is to connect Victoria with the coal mines of Nanaimo and Wellington, received a letter from a young Englishman who wanted employment. He was willing to do anything; to cut down trees, or to use axe and shovel, although he admitted in such work he would probably require lessons; but he suggested in all seriousness that it might be worth while for the contractors to engage him to supply the camps with game, and it was evident, from the style of his note, that the latter would be far away the more congenial occupation. It was impossible to doubt that the writer was a young and ingenuous countryman of ours.—Victoria correspondent Manchester Examiner.

BASE BALL.

Local Matches—The League Games in the East.

A match was played yesterday at Beacon Hill between the Rock Bay and Clipper clubs of this city, in which the former come off victorious by a score of 42 to 18. Mr. Frank Wolfenden umpired the game.

The season has now fairly opened in the east. It is rather early to prognosticate, but the Philadelphia Sporting Life is willing to stake its reputation on the following forecast: The League championship will lie "between" Boston and Detroit; the American Association championship "between" New York and St. Louis; and the Western League "between" Cleveland and Omaha. What do you think of it?

Mr. Spalding says all the reinstated players will have to pay their fines out of their salaries. He adds: "Take Glasscock, for instance. He plays with St. Louis this year for $2,200, which leaves him just $1,200 for the season's work. If he hadn't broken his contract he would be drawing a salary of probably $3,000 a year—perhaps more—so that he is pretty heavily punished."

The League games recently played in the following places excited much interest. The scores by innings were:

THE amount involved in the seizure of the Ayer medicines in Montreal is $20,000. The firm claim that there is a mistake somewhere.

ANSWERING MR. BLAKE, SIR JOHN said that the government were considering the proposal to give land or scrip to volunteers on active service in the Northwest.

THE population of Washington is 203,450, an increase during the past five years of 25,835. The attractiveness of Washington as a place of residence is just beginning to be recognized.

MR. GLADSTONE keeps the spirits of his ministers up, as they sit around the long table in Downing street, by figuring on bits of paper how hopelessly he is plunging Russia in debt by making her keep up gigantic war preparations which she cannot afford, while England can make up an extra million or so by a dab of the pen and hardly feel it.

So long as the undeniable fact remains that a large element in the population of every city in the United States—to say nothing of the country towns—is composed of thoroughbred heathen, who are capable of putting the inhabitants of Central Africa, Asia and the Cannibal Islands to the blush, it is a grave question whether the $757,635 expended last year by the Presbyterian board of foreign missions would not have done more good at home.

THE total electorate of the Dominion is between eight hundred thousand and one million. The Indians in the whole Dominion, who have houses or huts on their reserves, are not more than six thousand in all. Probably not more than five thousand voters would be added to the list from among the Indians in the reserves, and of these two thousand will be found in British Columbia, leaving three thousand as the outside for the provinces of Ontario, Quebec, Nova Scotia, New Brunwick, and Prince Edward Island.

THE government of Ontario, having in view the importance of improving the average character of the butter made in this province, has appointed MR. BARRE, of Quebec, as Professor of Dairying in connection with the Agricultural college creamery at Guelph. MR. BARRE will take charge of the creamery and the experimental dairying, and give lectures on the subject in the college. He is said to be a good authority on the subject, having studied it thoroughly both theoretically and practically in Denmark, where excellent butter is made.

NEW YORK is to have a Ladies' club, and a ladies' club at that which is to be to the leading feminine society population what the union is to the masculine, if we may rely upon an American contemporary. For some years many of the married women and young ladies in society have been growing more and more restrive over the privileges enjoyed by their associates of the opposite sex in their clubs, and utterly failing, despite their best endeavors to counteract or overcome this decided fondness for club life on the part of their fathers, husbands, brothers and friends they have finally decided to throw down the gauntlet of defence and introduce the fashion of ladies' clubs in the metropolis.

IN the development of the export cattle trade of Canada every detail has been attended to that would insure comfort and safety to the animals. The same cannot be said with regard to the men who accompany each cargo as drovers. A Montreal paper says:—Any place has been deemed good enough for them to sleep, and in many cases their food has been served out in anything but a cleanly manner. The result has been that the cattlemen have developed into a rather rude lot. The growing importance of the trade, however, has been the means of awakening shippers to the necessities of their men, and as a result new steamships are being supplied with suitable accommodation.

IT is surmised that the delay in naming the arbitrator between England and Russia arises from the objection England has to King Christian of Denmark as arbitrator in the Afghan-Turkestan boundary matter since, from a human standpoint, England has little to expect in her favor from Denmark, a country which has been cruelly wronged by the British government within this century on two occasions. Although it has been about seventy years since the bombardment of Copenhagen, and twenty-one years since England permitted Prussia to take a large slice of Danish territory, these wrongs are remembered, and King Christian would be very likely to decide the Afghan question in Russia's favor, and rely upon Russian protection to prop up his throne.

SOCIAL intercourse in India between Europeans and the educated natives is not only hampered by stringent regulations as to the seclusion of the women, but by other caste rules which are minute and many. Until LORD and LADY DUFFERIN went to India, nobody made any attempt, it is said, to bring about a freer state of things in society there, because it seemed hopeless to do so. But LORD and LADY DUFFERIN are working toward the end they have in view with diplomatic niceness, and are reported as succeeding in winning golden opinions everywhere. It is confidently expected that the result will be to free social intercourse in India from its irritating trammels, thus advancing the interests of general society and strengthening the natives' attachment and loyalty to English rule.

LEECHES AT THE DOMINION TREASURY.

Astounding revelations have been brought to light by the public accounts committee in the transactions between the Dominion government and the firm of I. G. BAKER & Co., of Benton, Montana. For years previous to the construction of the Canadian Pacific Railway this firm had control of the supplies for the mounted police as well as for all government officials in the Northwest. Lately the firm opened a branch establishment at Calgary where a vast business is transacted. In addition to furnishing the supplies, as already stated, the firm are known to transact a general banking business, and act as paymasters for the police and others having dealings with the Dominion government. As many in this city can testify the firm of I. G. BAKER & Co., know full well how to take advantage of their position and many an unfortunate, or such as may be anxious to get their vouchers cashed are compelled to pay heavy tribute to that avaricious firm. In short they have obtained such a foothold in the Northwest that turn where one may they are encompassed by I. G. BAKER & Co. The government contrive how they shall be supplied; the people contribute towards their prosperity, our laborers toil for them. The car of this financial Juggernaut passes over the bodies of our Northwest officers, who smile as they are offered in sacrifice. And this is not a matter of yesterday. Through the vista of years one sees I. G. BAKER & Co., appearing on the boundary lines as Canada nervously put forth her claiming hand in the far west. The establishment of the Mounted Police in the Saskatchewan and the establishment of I. G. BAKER & COMPANY in the Public Accounts were simultaneous, and both have remained in their respective positions ever since. If all this was above suspicion; if there had not been for years past the most unpleasant insinuations, nay, bold assertions, reflecting on the integrity of government officials, the fact would still remain that I. G. BAKER have taken several millions of money out of this country that might just as well have gone into Canadian pockets, and that little excuse as there was for this before there is absolutely none now. There are fifty different houses in Montreal, Toronto and Hamilton who can supply manufactured articles as cheaply as I. G. BAKER can do, and thousands of men in the country who are selling the articles of food that have for years been purchased from this American firm.

STRENGTHENING THE MILITIA.

The events of the past three months in the Northwest have given the military spirit of the Dominion a vast impetus, more so than anything else that has yet occurred in the country, not even excepting the Fenian invasion of 1866. The reason is that it has now been demonstrated that our young men are capable of, when put to the test of actual warfare, real military campaigning. They have got over the most difficult ground in a manner that would have done credit to the best trained branches of the regular services. And not only have they marched successfully and uncomplainingly in an inclement season, and amid dreadful obstacles for many hundreds of miles, but they have faced unflinchingly the fire of a determined enemy, and beaten them at every point. There has been no act of cowardice charged against any of the volunteers, no demoralization under fire such as is always looked for in raw troops; but all who were engaged bore themselves with a bravery and soldiery sense of duty which has not only been a source of pride and satisfaction amongst ourselves, but has challenged the admiration and applause of European nations. All this has been and is being an education for Canada which our people cannot too well profit by. The military idea thus stimulated must not be allowed to flag or die out, but rather is to be encouraged and assisted by every patriotic impulse. Such of the forces as have not been in actual engagements have born the heat and burden of the day in a way which is hardly less creditable than if they had put to their account so many of the enemies of order slain, for they have conquered natural obstacles just as formidable in their way as an enemy in the field. The people will not forget that; but we believe will do all in their power to strengthen the hands of the militia authorities, and render the force under them more efficient than ever.

CONTEMPTIBLE MEANNESS.

A Quebec special to the Toronto Globe mentions one of the most contemptible acts of meanness ever committed by the government of any country upon brave men who fight its battles and cheerfully lay down their lives in its service has just been made public there as regards the Ottawa authorities. It is the case of Achille Blois, a member of the Ninth Quebec battalion, who died at the hospital at Winnipeg from the result of cold and exposure in proceeding to the front along the north shore of Lake Superior with his comrades. Before handing over to his afflicted family the military pay due to him up to the time of his death, the militia department telegraphed to Winnipeg for a statement of his funeral expenses, and actually deducted them from the amount coming to his relations. Some of the local papers are contrasting this heartless conduct with the action of the British government toward the widows and relatives of the Canadian voyageurs who died in Egypt, and very pertinently asking whether Canada ever expects to get volunteers in this section again if it treats them in this way.

BREAKERS AHEAD.

The capture of LOUIS RIEL has proved to be a veritable white elephant to many of our politicians. In the province of Quebec the arch-rebel has many sympathizers. Already efforts have been made to procure for the defence of RIEL the best legal talent in that province. As is well known the political bias of the people there is largely conservative, while in religion at least seventy per cent. of the population give their adherence to the Roman Catholic church. LOUIS RIEL is supposed to be of French Canadian extract, and hitherto was supposed to be a member of the religious body referred to. The feeling of remorse and bitter disappointment which grew out of the defeat of the French on the Plains of Abraham, and which has been dormant in the breasts of the majority of French Canadians, with few exceptions, ever since, is again beginning to show itself strongly in the attitude of the French toward the English-speaking people of this country. The growth of the French Canadian element during the past fifteen years has been rapid. They form the majority of the government supporters to the House of Commons at Ottawa; consequently the party depends upon the French Canadian vote, that class having the most influence with the present administration. Knowing that they hold the reins of power, the French Canadians are becoming more and more obnoxious to English Canadians all over Canada, their latest demonstration of disloyalty being their openly displayed sympathy with RIEL and his rebel gang who held sway in the Northwest for a short time. It is looked upon as extremely improbable that the French Canadians will submit to that punishment being meted out to RIEL and the other ring leaders of the rebellion that all impartial people agree they so richly deserve. In 1870 French Canadian sympathizers with RIEL stood by him and insisted upon SIR JOHN MACDONALD furnishing him with money, through Archbishop Taché, to fly from justice to the United States, and immediately after PREMIER MACDONALD, in his notorious speech on the rebellion of fifteen years ago, said: "I wish to God I could catch him." The complete state of subjection to which the French Canadians have brought SIR JOHN MACDONALD has given them an opportunity in the country which they have not been slow to take advantage of, and by which they have made themselves well nigh intolerable. It is feared that the Northwest rebellion is but the forerunner of a serious trouble with the French Canadians all over Canada, which is inevitable in the near future and which would prove the most bloody epoch in the history of the continent. And the proof of this feeling of disloyalty of French-Canadians toward the Imperial government was shown a few days ago. There was talk in Montreal of raising a Canadian regiment to do duty for the British government in the event of war with Russia. It was reported about the same time that France had formed an alliance with Russia against England and the question was raised if France really did form such an alliance with Russia, would French-Canadians take up arms against the latter on behalf of England. La Minerve, the representative French Canadian journal, did not hesitate to answer that French-Canadians would never take the part of England under such circumstances.

GOV. DEWDNEY ON POUND MAKER.

LIEUT.-GOVERNOR DEWDNEY, in an interview, lately said, regarding Poundmaker: "He is a clever, intelligent Indian, and I do not believe he committed any depredations. I believe Poundmaker to be a good Indian and indisposed to rebellion, but may have been forced into it by the Stonies, who are about the worst Indians we have. The great mistake was in giving the Indians time to think and dance and become excited. They should have been dealt with energetically. Looking at it in this light, I am of the opinion that Otter's rapid advance to Battleford and Strange's decided movements saved the whole Edmonton country from bursting into a blaze. But for Otter's presence, Poundmaker and Big Bear would have come together, and a powerful foe would then have had to be fought.

DYSPEPSIA.

Sedentary habits, mental worry, nervous excitement, excess or imprudence in eating or drinking, and various other causes, induce Constipation followed by general derangement of the liver, kidneys, and stomach, in which the disorder of each organ increases the infirmity of the others.

The immediate results are Loss of Appetite, Nausea, Foul Breath, Heartburn, Flatulence, Dizziness, Sick Headaches, failure of physical and mental vigor, distressing sense of weight and fullness in the stomach, and increased Costiveness, all of which are known under one head as Dyspepsia.

In every instance where this disease does not originate from scrofulous taint in the blood, AYER'S PILLS may be confidently relied upon to effect a cure. Those cases not amenable to the curative influence of AYER'S PILLS alone will certainly yield if the PILLS are aided by the powerful blood-purifying properties of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA.

Dyspeptics should know that the longer treatment of their malady is postponed, the more difficult of cure it becomes.

Ayer's Pills

Never fail to relieve the bowels and promote their healthful and regular action, and thus cure Dyspepsia. Temporary palliatives all do permanent harm. The fitful activity into which the enfeebled stomach is spurred by "bitters," and alcoholic stimulants, is inevitably followed by reaction that leaves the organ weaker than before.

"Costiveness, induced by my sedentary habits of life, became chronic; AYER'S PILLS afforded me speedy relief. Their occasional use has since kept me all right." HERMANN BRINKMOFF, Newark, N. J.

"I was induced to try AYER'S PILLS as a remedy for Indigestion, Constipation, and Headache, from which I had long been a sufferer. I found their action easy, and obtained prompt relief. They have benefited me more than all the medicines ever before tried." M. V. WATSON, 757 State St., Chicago, Ill.

"They have entirely corrected the costive habit, and vastly improved my general health." REV. FRANCIS B. HARLOWE, Atlanta, Ga.

"The most effective and the easiest physic I have ever found. One dose will quickly move my bowels and free my head from pain." W. L. PACE, Richmond, Va.

"A sufferer from Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, and Neuralgia for the last twenty years, AYER'S PILLS have benefited me more than any medicine I have ever taken." P. B. ROGERS, Needmore, Brown Co., Ind.

"For Dyspepsia they are invaluable." J. T. HAYES, Mexia, Texas.

BOYS AND GIRLS

An Eagle That Caught a Man

Two men who live on Long Island went hunting one afternoon early this month. They drove in a wagon. Like a good many other cruel grown ups who were not taught better when they were boys these men were in the habit of firing at everything in the shape of a bird that they saw. They spied one high up in a tree. It was nothing less than an eagle, the bird of their country, yet one of the men had no more respect for him than to bang away with his gun at the royal creature. A person who would do such a thing would not be expected to be a good marksman, and he did not hit it. The eagle stretched his wings to fly away. Just as it did so the man fired the other barrel of his shotgun at it. The eagle had treated him with grand disdain before, but that second shot waked up the bird. It struck and wounded him slightly. He showed the rash hunters that the American eagle is not a bird to be fooled with. It is to be hoped foreign nations will learn that lesson, too. When the shot struck him the eagle arose in the air, circled grandly two or three times, and shot like an arrow directly down upon the man who had fired at him. That bird meant fight. The hunter saw him coming, and aimed a blow at him with the butt of his gun.

Then there was an exciting scene. The eagle dodged the blow just as an intelligent person would have done, and shot past the man. Then it wheeled suddenly and came at him again beak and claw. The hunter struck at it again with his gun, but at the moment he did so his foot slipped and he fell. The fall knocked the gun from his hands and out of his reach. The eagle had dodged his blow again, and risen in the air somewhat. As he lay flat and helpless upon the ground the bird swooped down upon him with a scream that waked the echoes. The man called to his friend to come and help him. The enemy scratched his legs and pecked his back and sides. He caught it by the neck, and then it put up its claws and scratched his hands terribly. That bird was game to its toe nails. He was scratched so that he was forced to let go his hold. Then it rose in the air to get a forceful start, and swooped down upon him again. This time it pounced upon his back, and began tearing his clothes and flesh.

THE FIGHT.

The splendid bird would undoubtedly have conquered the one man alone, but by this time the friend had come up. He picked up the gun and with it knocked the eagle senseless. Before it had recovered itself he ran to the wagon and brought some ropes. The fallen man had got upon his feet by that time, and the two together tied the eagle. They bore their prize thus bound and helpless to their wagon, and brought him home. There they chained him in the barn. But it took two men to do it.

The eagle was the largest one ever taken alive on Long Island. It measured seven and a half feet from tip to tip of its wings. The hunter who fired at it was considerably scratched up. It served him right. The next time he sees a royal American eagle sitting peacefully upon a tall tree meditating he will probably not disturb him.

What a Very Small Boy Did.

Harry is only six years old. But he did something not very long ago that would have been brave and manly in a boy twice his age. Harry is a thoughtful child. He is called very "pokey" about doing things. I am afraid he is lazy about dressing himself mornings. Sometimes his papa says to him:

"Harry, why don't you hurry? What are you doing?"

Harry always answers:

"Papa, I'm thinking."

Harry has a sister about three years old. Her name is Kitty. One day the washerwoman left a tub nearly full of water standing in the laundry. Hapless little Kitty, playing about there, tumbled head foremost into it. Mamma was away upstairs somewhere. Presently little feet went pattering up the stair, and the mother saw Harry's head pop in at the door.

"Mamma, mamma!" cried he, "Kitty has fallen into the tub of water."

The lady ran wildly down into the basement, fearing her little daughter would be drowned before she could reach her. Harry toddled after. When she entered the laundry there was the tub of water, but no girl was in it, struggling head downwards. The mother was pale with fright.

"Why, Harry," said she, "I thought you told me Kitty fell into the water."

"She did, too, mamma," said Harry, speaking very big, "but I pulled her out my own self. Then I went and told you."

Sure enough there was Kitty standing near by, sopping wet from head to foot, water streaming down her face, dropping around her in puddles upon the floor.

"Papa," said Harry afterwards, "don't you think that story is good enough to go into the newspapers?"

It surely is.

Philadelphia's Beautiful Women.

[Courier-Journal.]

The complexion of the women in Philadelphia—I speak of those under 30—is as soft, clear, and roseate as a child's. An intelligent physician here, conversing with me on the subject, said the reason that Philadelphia women were handsomer than the women of other cities was from the fact that they did less lacing. Lacing, he said, compresses the liver, so that its functions are deranged, and the bile, instead of legitimately aiding digestion as it should, is thrown into the venous circulation, producing the shallow complexion so common among our American women. The female gymnasts and equestriennes are noted for their fine, clear complexion, which is attributable to the fact that their profession precludes lacing. Again, the women here do more walking than they do in almost any other city on the continent. In this they resemble the English women, who are noted the world over for their beautiful complexion. Not only this, but the exercise of walking rounds the form, and for contour of face, complexion, and figure, our women are unexcelled.

Take the word "curtain." By dropping the ... and taking letters off the ... is called "curtailment," see how many other words you can make.

Fashion in Flowers.

Tulips, Japan lilies and Jacqueminot roses have alike had their day of fashion and fabulous prices. We import our styles in flowers, as in manners and tailor costumes, from England. The London craze is now for the culture of the marvelous orchid family of plants. Both flowers and plants bring enormous prices. There was an auction of orchids in London not long since. One plant alone of a very rare variety, snow white, with seven flower spikes, was sold to a Mr. Bull, of Chelsea, for $630. This is equal to the tulip craze of a century ago. Baron de Rothschild gave a dinner last week at which the table was wholly decorated with orchid flowers. They were in one solid bank, and covered all the table except the edge which was required for the plates. They cost thousands of dollars. Baron Ferdinand de Rothschild has the finest collection of these plants in Great Britain. In the present orchidomania which is raging, a single root of a rare kind frequently brings as much as $300 to $400. Florists have searched the equatorial regions over for new varieties. Orchid culture is a fancy which may well absorb the attention. The rarest specimens need a moist hot-house atmosphere. Some are air-plants, and grow without a particle of earth. There are one or two hardy ones growing native in this country. There are not more than two or three fine general collections in America. An orchid house would be a fascinating attraction to a country home. There are many varieties of the family. The flowers come in such beautiful and fantastic shapes as almost to baffle description.

Health Exercises.

One is pleased to note that gymnastic exercises and gymnasiums for ladies and children are quite the fashion in New York. Both young and married women are regular attendants, and derive great benefit therefrom. The right kind of calisthenics strengthens weak and crooked spines and limbs, gives plump, pretty chests, strong muscles, bright eyes and dancing, red blood. It drives away dyspepsia. But in practicing the exercises the limbs must be absolutely unencumbered by dress. The Season presents some pretty and convenient gymnastic costumes, both for ladies and children, as follows: "Gymnastic costumes for children are mostly composed of short trousers and a blouse of gray linen, either ornamented with rows of stitching or embroidered tastefully with border of bright-colored cotton, and drawn in at the waist with a broad belt and buckle or clasps; for young and married ladies flannel robes are particularly recommended, although dainty arrangements are made up in soft woolen materials, and above all dark jersey stuffs; the pantaloons, going down to the middle of the leg, are buttoned below, and the blouse, which is high and closed before, completed by a short plaited skirt, trimmed with colored braid; a colored plaited frill goes around the neck opening and encircles the wrists; a band, with sash bow behind, makes the costume fit well to the figure, yet without pressure."

Industrial Training.

A movement in favor of the public training of boys and girls to self-supporting trades is on foot. It is growing in favor continually. If the United States paid the attention she should to teaching her young people to become skilled artisans we would not long need a tariff to protect American manufactures. The fact is, we are behind the rest of the world in the encouragement of skilled labor. In France and Austria there are government industrial schools. From France, in consequence, comes the Sèvres porcelain, unrivaled in the world. Austria has training schools in which girls are taught gold and silver filagree work, and boys designing and wood-working.

To women, especially, such schools are beneficial. In France, lately, the Gobelin tapestry factory and the national printing office have been opened to women workmen. So well had these been trained that they took their places at once among the highest without difficulty.

In Paris it is estimated that 60 per cent. of the artisans in watch making, in the manufacture of flutes, pianos, harps, and of surgical instruments and bandages are women. There are still other schools in Paris where women are instructed in the manufacture of metals, the repairing of clocks and watches, and the designing and manufacture of jewelry. All of these women find immediate employment, the demand for them being greater than the supply.

The Schoolmaster at Home.

An international educational congress so-called lately held a meeting in New Orleans. At the close the members passed the resolution below. As a specimen of clear, brilliant, short-sentence making and of understandable English its equal will be hard to find. It shows these "educators" to be the light of the world. Fancy our innocent babes learning English composition on such a model as this: "We unanimously bear testimony to the fact that the world's industrial and cotton centennial exposition is not only mere extensive in its buildings and the space occupied, but may claim precedence on the far more just grounds that it has applied the skill gained by former experience in similar expositions in such a way as to bring together all the valuable devices heretofore discovered for showing to the eye at a glance the resources of a country, or the quality and peculiarities of the mechanical construction and the usefulness of goods and machinery, offering in this respect an exhibition of new phases and aspects of the national wealth not heretofore thought possible to make the object of display."

Facts of Interest.

An Englishman has invented a coiled spring for running sewing machines, doing away with all foot driving.

The word "volt" is used as a measure of electric force. It is from the name of Volta, the electrician. A "volt" is about equal to the electro motive force of a Daniell's sulphate of copper cell.

A French doctor has received from the academy a prize of 40,000f. for discovering a sure mode of detecting when persons are really dead. It is this: Hold up the hand of a supposed dead person to a strong light. If he is alive a scarlet tinge will be seen where the fingers meet, showing that the blood still circulates. If he is dead, no scarlet will be seen.

The Missing Link.

According to Dr. Hyades, who has lately returned from Terra del Fuego, whither he was dispatched on a mission by the French government, the Fuegians are the lowest human beings in the scale of existence. Their language contains no word for any number above three; they are unable to distinguish one color from another; they have no religion and no funeral rites, and they possess neither chiefs nor slaves. Their only weapons are bone-pointed spears, and, as they grow neither fruits nor vegetables and their country is naturally barren, they are obliged to live entirely on animal food. Even these savages possess, however, some social virtues. They are not cannibals, they ill-treat neither women nor the old, and they are monogamous.

Lotteries in France.

[Boston Advertiser.]

The French are fond of lotteries. When the city of Paris issues a loan there is a lottery attached by which the purchaser of a bond of 1,000 francs may draw 100,000 francs. The lottery principle is to be ingrafted upon the approaching salon of 1885. There are to be 150,000 tickets sold at 1 franc each. Of this amount 135,000 are to be distributed in eleven lots of different sums. The possessor of a prize can then purchase of the artist any painting in the exhibition valued at the amount which his ticket represents.

The Boston shipmasters report that their compasses were affected by tin cases containing refined petroleum as much as they would have been by the same quantity of iron or steel.

Narrow Escape.

* * * ROCHESTER, June 1, 1882. "Ten Years ago I was attacked with the most Intense and deathly pains in my back and Kidneys.

"Extending to the end of my toes and to my brain!

"Which made me delirious!

"From agony!!!!

"It took three men to hold me on my bed at times!

"The Doctors tried in vain to relieve me, but to no purpose.

Morphine and other opiates!

"Had no effect!

"After two months I was given up to die!!!!

"When my wife heard a neighbor tell what Hop Bitters had done for her, she at once got and gave me some. The first dose eased my brain and seemed to go hunting through my system for the pain.

"The second dose eased me so much that I slept two hours, something I had not done for two months. Before I had used five bottles I was well and at work as hard as any man could, for over three weeks; but I worked too hard for my strength, and taking a hard cold, I was taken with the most acute and painful rheumatism all through my system that ever was known.

"I called the doctors again, and after several weeks they left me a cripple on crutches for life, as they said. I met a friend and told him my case, and he said Hop Bitters had cured him and would cure me. I poohed at him, but he was so earnest I was induced to use them again.

In less than four weeks I threw away my crutches and went to work lightly and kept on using the Bitters for five weeks, until I became as well as any man living, and have been so for six years since.

It has also cured my wife, who had been sick for years; and has kept her and my children well and healthy with from two to three bottles per year. There is no need to be sick at all if these Bitters are used.

Fell From a Scaffold.

A carpenter named James Askell, while working on the roof of a new building on Humboldt street, this afternoon, missed his footing and fell to the ground, a distance of twenty-six feet. Doctor Milne, who was called in, found that while no bones were broken, there were severe contusions and possibly internal injuries. He was removed to his home on Johnson street, and the doctor hopes, if no more unfavorable symptoms set in, that he will soon recover. The fall would probably have been fatal but that it was broken in one or two places by several boards which had been used for scaffolding.

Ornamental Penmanship.

Mr. Tudor Tiedman has prepared for presentation to Mr. Geo. Richardson, by the members of Deluge Engine Company No. 1 a very handsome illuminated certificate of honary membership, which reflects much credit on Mr. Tiedman's artistic taste and ability as a penman. Each of the four corners are coupled by a hook and ladder, while at the head of the sheet is a very correct representation of a steam fire engine. The lettering is well executed and the blending of the colors almost faultless.

A Pretty Silver Medal.

Mr. Bedfern has prepared for presentation by the members of the V. A. C. to R. O. Robinson as winner of the 100 yard race on the Queen's birthday, a very pretty silver medal. On the face of the medal are the letters of V. A. C. and the words May 25th, 1·85, while on the reverse side is the inscription of Mr. R. O. Robinson, as winner of the 100 yard race.

THE ANTI-CHINESE LEAGUE.

Large Meeting Last Night—Demand on Mr. H. W. T. Drake to Resign.

The workingmen are determined to keep the anti-Chinese ball rolling until something definite is accomplished. The large crowd at Harmony Hall last night was, with very few exceptions, composed of mechanics and laboring men; and but one or two specimens of the genus politician put in an appearance or took part in the proceedings.

Mr. W. A. Robertson occupied the chair and in opening the meeting spoke of the importance of continued agitation. This has been called a political question by those who extol the Chinese, and one judge had said that he would not give much for a white man who could not, in the business of life, hold his own with or defeat a Chinaman; but we would defeat them by a combination against their combination. It would take all the efforts we could bring to bear against it, but by sticking together we would succeed. He had recently made a trip over the Island Railway, where with the exception of the "herders" or foremen, he did not see any white men employed. The work was being carried out exclusively by Chinese, and from the way it was being done it was quite evident that it was not profitable to the employers. He then introduced Mr. J. M. Duval, who said that his duty was neither a pleasant or an agreeable one, as it was to assail one of the leading citizens of Victoria. Every man worthy of the name would defend the liberties that have been handed down to us, and when the tribunes of the people forget their pledges and Judas-like sell themselves for a price, it is time that they surrender a position they have dishonored. Mr. Drake had stated to the electors of Victoria prior to the late election that he was in favor of the entire exclusion of Chinese, and would support any measure with that object in view. He had attacked the late government on this question, and had frequently reiterated his professed convictions as antagonistic to the Mongolian race. He was appointed on a select committee to draw up a bill that would be constitutional, which committee had reported the bills, both of which had been passed. One was disallowed, and the other, the regulation Act, is now on trial before the courts. Mr. Drake is therefore directly responsible for the bill; he took his sessional allowance as a member of the House, and every principle of honor demanded that he should be true to the pledges that he made to the people. But he has taken a fee to defeat the act in the courts, and nullify the legislation of the House of Assembly, endeavoring to over-ride the overwhelming voice of the people; taking money on one side to pass the bill and on the other side to defeat the bill, thereby dishonoring the position of representative and disgracing the legislative halls of the province, and deserves the utter contempt of all true men and women in this province, as Mr. Helmcken, of the firm of Drake, Jackson & Helmcken, appeared in the police court of this city, in conjunction with Mr. Richards, and endeavored to set aside the act on the ground that it was unconstitutional. We must demand that our public men keep their pledges to the people and insist upon a higher standard of public honor. There are many in this community who openly assert that this case is to be bandied about the courts until after the next election; therefore it is our duty to make it plainly understood that if such is the case we shall know where to place the blame. A duty devolves upon every true man to demand that official perfidy shall no longer run rampant, but that the overwhelming and often expressed voice of the people shall be obeyed and the interest of the people no longer made a foot-ball for designing politicians. Therefore, be it

Resolved—That we demand that Mr. M. W. Tyrwhitt Drake resign immediately his position as a representative of Victoria city in the House of Assembly.

The resolution was seconded by Mr. Wm. Tierney, who said he had been a supporter of Mr. Drake in the past.

Mr. Stuart spoke to the resolution. Mr. Drake had failed to come forward, although he had plenty of opportunity. He understood that Mr. D. had said that he did not want to represent the city any more; well, he had better not. As a member of the government he had helped to pass that bill and he was dishonest now in trying to kill it.

Mr. C. Booth next took the platform and spoke in support of the resolution. He said that we must all act as one man, as we had to deal with every man who has any interest in keeping them here. Those people stood in their own light. The Chinese were getting their hands on the throats of every industry in the country, and no business would thrive here when they were in such overwhelming numbers. He spoke of the evil from a national standpoint and pointed out what the result would be in the event of war, when white men would be called upon to defend the country for Chinamen. In Australia the English constitution was strong enough to exclude these people, but we are told it is not so in British Columbia. The speaker closed with the statement: This land cannot bear our race and the Mongolians—one must go—and by G-d it will not be ours.

Cries of "Wilson" were not responded to, and the motion calling upon Mr. Drake to resign his seat in the House was then put and carried unanimously.

Mr. Powell spoke on the advisability of signing the constitution. The object of this movement was not political. They had come forward under considerable odium to start it, and were willing to retire so soon as other men would come forward and take their places. He moved that, whereas the objects of the Anti-Chinese League are not political, but, as stated in our constitution, to prevent by every lawful means the further influx of Chinese into our province, we therefore think and believe that these objects are worthy of the consideration and hearty support of every citizen, and we confidently ask and expect all to join this organization and help forward this great social, provincial and national reform.

Mr. West said there was a prejudice in the public mind against parties coming forward on this question. His reason for taking part in the movement was the wrong that was being perpetrated against the workingmen. The future prosperity of this Canada of ours depends upon the bone and sinew of the workingmen, and the assertion that Chinese are superior to the Anglo-Saxon is hurled back in the teeth of him who uttered it. Much as he revered the teachings of Christianity, no minister of the gospel would ever receive his patronage who gave support or countenance to the Chinese. One leading politician, who was nominally opposed to them, employed two Chinese cooks, and in doing so proved himself a base hypocrite. Every man must clean his garments, and be consistent in his actions.

Mr. J. Wilby said they wanted help from every source, even from the money-bags, and the merchants should be enlisted in the cause. The men in Chinatown were sharp business men, they had lots of money and they were prepared to go into every avenue of business that our own people were in. Some of them had done so already to the detriment of the white men. The building of the west end of the C. P. R. had left an unpeopled country, because Chinamen had been employed. The local government should regulate immigration. Chinamen were now working on the dry dock and if they were ever to be driven out, it must be before they get too strong.

Mr. Haughton was followed by Mr. Doherty, "the hod-carrier," who said that to-night he proposed to be a soldier. He convulsed the audience by relating an incident that happened the other day. While taking his dinner, at the place where he was working on Government street, two beautiful and fashionably dressed ladies came along. One remarked to the other: "Oh, I have got a nice little China boy!" (roars of laughter.) Of course, gentleman, a Chinaman is a boy until he is twenty-four! They were used by the ladies to lace their shoes and do other chores of that kind. It was not right or proper that they should occupy such positions in the families of the wealthy. They should be turned out of the wash-houses, and honest girls in the east given an opportunity to come here and make a living. Bricklayers and carpenters, when they take a job should make an agreement that no Chinaman will be employed on the building. (Cheers). I for one am going to stand by this movement, politically and socially, until every legitimate means fail, and then we will rise like men and sweep the Chinese, and all who sympathize with them forever from the land. (Applause).

Cries of "Davie" brought that gentleman to the front. He expressed his approval of the general tenor of what had been said, but disagreed with the attacks upon the legal fraternity. The legislation that had been already secured was due to lawyers. He held that the local house was the only place to deal with the question; such had always been his opinion, and ninety out of every hundred men were of that opinion now. There was nothing to hope for in the House of Commons. As for himself he employed no Chinamen—neither did he get his shirts washed by them.

Mr. Powell's motion was put and carried, and the meeting then adjourned.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

[While the columns of The Times are open for the discussion of questions of public interest, to correspondents, it must be understood that it does not necessarily endorse, nor coincide with, the sentiments expressed by writers in this column.]

The Colonist on Hostility to Religion Denied.

To the Editor of The Times:

Sir,—I observed in last Sunday's issue of the Colonist a copy of a communication addressed to the government on behalf of the Methodist missionaries on the northwest coast, signed by D. Jennings, secretary in behalf of the District Mission. The writer launches out by stating "that two missionaries has been attacked by men hostile to religion and religious men." This statement is not true. There is not a person in the province acquainted with the character of the several men thus stamped but is aware that it has no foundation in fact. If Mr. Jennings had simply put forward facts, and argued accordingly, his conclusions might have had weight. When his hypothesis is false the result arrived at must be equally in error. The writer denies that either Messrs. Crosby or Green taught the notion of Indian title to the land, but confesses that both those gentlemen hold the opinion that the Indian title has not been cancelled and that injustice has been done in the premises. The denial, whether true or not, must be judged not only by the evidence given under oath, by men of undoubted veracity, but by the statements appearing in public print from time to time, up to the date of the article in question, which have been either written by those reverend gentlemen or in their behalf. Taking into consideration that many of the Indians on the northwest coast read the public prints, it matters little whether those doctrines were taught personally or otherwise, the fact remains the same, viz.: that ideas contrary to good government have been inculcated into the minds of those Indian people by men who ought to have guarded against anything of the kind. Mr. Crosby's apologist further states that, that gentlemen "emphatically denies that he said anything to the 'Indians about the land being theirs, in the council at the time referred to by Mr. O'Reilly." In this connection I have no hesitation in asserting that Mr. O'Rielly is well known from one end of this province to the other, both in his official and private capacity, and that his reputation is such that his bare word would be accepted as a guarantee as to the truthfulness of any statement which he might make in regard to matters coming within his personal knowledge.
